Holiday Art Tour, December 2 and 3

A desire to support and promote the arts has prompted four Fulton County area artists to open their home studios for holiday shopping. This free, self-guided, Holiday Art Tour 2006 will be held Saturday, December 2, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Sunday, December 3, from 12 noon to 5 p.m. The tour offers guests the opportunity to visit with the artists about both their work and the creation of their studios. Guests can enjoy refreshments at each studio and a relaxing day of shopping for unique gifts.

The four participating artists/studios include:

The Sand Hill Church, located north of Rochester at 550 N and Old Highway 31 (Main Street in Rochester) is the home and studio of artist Jim Scott. Originally a school located on the Tippecanoe River, the building which is now a studio was moved to its present site in 1890 and became the Sand Hill Methodist Church. Jim moved to the area in 1976 and purchased the abandoned church. He restored it for use as his studio and residence. Jim will be showing his original paintings, including new three dimensional works, and giclee prints of his work. His work is done in the style of "fantasy realism", sometimes taking Old Master's subject matter and using it in a contemporary form. Guest artist Mercedes Brugh of Frozen Music - Composed Glass Jewelry, will also be exhibiting at Sand Hill Studio. Mercedes etches delicate patterns in glass and then pools clear glass over the etchings to create necklaces, earrings and bracelets.

Pat Thompson, Brushtracks Studio, and Gail Karas, Artistic Impressions, will be showing original paintings, limited edition giclee and watercolor prints, pastel drawings, sketches and creative cards in Pat's 100-year-old home. Pat's home is located just two blocks east of Wynnfield Crossing at 150 S. Mitchell Drive. Take U.S. 31 to Wabash Avenue and look for the signs.

Gib Foster, Rain Creek Studio, moved to the Rochester area in 1975, purchased a 100-year-old Sears kit barn and moved the barn to the Mount Zion-Millark Mill watershed of Lake Manitou. His barn studio and gallery are situated on ten and one-half acres along Rain Creek, a natural wetlands habitat. He will be showing his paintings, hand-pulled drypaint etchings, drawings, small bone sculptures and computer generated art prints. New works of contemporary landscape paintings will also be featured. Barbara Lutterbein of Sky Studio will be exhibiting quilts and other textile gifts at Rain Creek Studio this year. From U.S. 31 south of Rochester, turn east on Wabash Road and watch for the signs.

Lugar Announces County Essay Winners

U.S. Senator Dick Lugar has announced that Morgan Herrold of Caston is the Fulton County winner of the 2006-2007 Dick Lugar Youth Essay Contest.

Eighth grade students from throughout Indiana wrote essays focusing on this year's theme, "Feeding Our Bodies, Fueling the Future". Hoosier farmers have always had the important job of feeding people, but now we are turning to the farmer in our pursuit of energy independence. Students were asked to consider the role farmers will play in fueling both our bodies and the future.

County winners will now compete at the district level. District winners will be invited to attend the Indiana Farm Bureau State Convention December 8 in Indianapolis where they will be recognized for their achievements. State winners will also be named at the convention.

Joyce Bangel of Winamac Community Middle School was named the Pulaski County essay contest winner.

Ladies Auxiliary Sponsors Balloon Release

The Ladies Auxiliary of the James F. Talbott VFW Post No. 1121 hosted its annual balloon release on Veterans Day, Saturday, November 11, to honor veterans. Chuck Smith offered prayer and then read the names of 102 veterans as the balloons were released. Since the release was held earlier in the day than usual, everyone could watch the balloons sail off. It was quite a sight to see them against the gray, November sky. After the balloon release, participants enjoyed barbecue pork sandwiches, chips and other refreshments.

The Auxiliary would like to thank the veterans and their families who attended the event. Thanks also to Chuck Smith for reading the names and a special thank you to Taylor and Michael Smith and Billie Hurley for passing out the balloons as the names were called. And, last, but not least, thanks to all the ladies who assisted.

PMH Board Chairman Retiring

Pat Smith

Director of Media Marketing

Rita Mrozinski, Chairman of the Pulaski Memorial Hospital Board of Trustees, has announced her resignation as board chairman, a position she has held since July 1984. Her resignation will become effective at the December board of trustees meeting.

"I believe the time has come for me to hand over the chairman responsibilities to someone else. I have thoroughly enjoyed my tenure as chairman through the good times and the not so good times. I will, however, remain as a board member for the remainder of my four-year term," Mrs. Mrozinski explained.

In August 1979, Mrs. Mrozinski was appointed to her first term as a member of PMH board of trustees. She has served on the board without interruption from that date to the present.

"Mrs. Mrozinski's contributions to Pulaski Memorial Hospital and the Pulaski County community have been significant and are an excellent reflection of her selfless dedication to the success of this hospital and to the improved health status of the citizens of our community," Richard Mynark, CEO, explained.

Mynark credits Mrs. Mrozinski with four decades of outstanding service to the healthcare of the community.

Mrs. Mrozinski's involvement in local healthcare began in 1961 when she and other volunteers canvassed the entire county, door to door, raising funds to help build Pulaski Memorial Hospital. The success of these efforts resulted in the hospital being opened in March 1963. She credits her term of service with the U.S. Navy's medical branch with providing her the understanding and knowledge of how important it was for a community, particularly a rural community, to have timely access to a medical care facility.

Fire caused damage of approximately $8,000 to the Harold Leasure residence in Pulaski County Monday afternoon. The blaze was discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. Ralph Shrader, who gave the alarm. Kewanna and Winamac fire departments responded. The origin of the fire is not known.

Woodson Ingram, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Ingram of here, will open a furniture store here in the near future. He presently operates a similar store in North Judson. The new enterprise will be located in the building formerly used by the Farmers and Merchants Bank. The building is now being cleaned and renovated for the new tenant.

Loren Fry, Fulton, was seriously injured Tuesday while working on the C&O Railroad near Kewanna. Loren received serious head injuries when the tongs on a derrick, which hooks over the rails, hit him on the side of the head. He had dodged one rail, but it was impossible for him to dodge the hook. He was taken to the Railroad Hospital in Peru.

Students: Don't Believe These Financial Aid Myths

College application season is in full swing. As students live in fear of a rejection letter, parents worry more about how they'll afford the tuition when their child is accepted.

College is expensive, but tuition fears shouldn't overshadow an otherwise exciting time in a teen's life. The key is to not believe the financial myths surrounding the price of a higher education.

Myth #1: You can't afford college.

Many parents and students see the tuition price, cost of living in the dorms and the textbook fees and say there is no way they can afford college. The truth is most college students require some form of financial aid. In fact, nearly 75 percent of 2006 high school graduates who took the ACT reported that they need help to pay for college. Don't ignore college because of its "sticker price". Students can receive a combination of grants, loans, scholarships or work study jobs to help reduce the cost.

Myth #2: You have to be very poor, very smart or very talented to qualify for financial aid.

Financial aid comes in many forms - grants and scholarships that you don't have to repay, and loans, which you do have to repay. There is need-based aid for students of lower income families, and merit-based aid for students who excel in athletics, music, community service and many other areas. Financial aid sources are as varied, too - the federal government, the college or university, a parent's employer, and others. When students take the time to explore all the possibilities, they will be surprised at what offers they may receive.

Myth #3: You can get more scholarships by paying someone to search for you.

Scholarship scams are everywhere. Beware of any group or individual that guarantees a scholarship if you pay a fee. There are many good and FREE scholarship sources on the Internet. Check out www.fastweb.com or www.finaid.org for more information.

Myth #4: My child will pay for college, so my salary doesn't matter.

Most need-based financial aid is based on parents' income and assets. Most schools require students to fill out the FAFSA, the Free Application for Federal Student Aid in order to qualify for need-based aid. The form, available online at www.fafsa.ed.gov asks for information similar to what you need for your income taxes. After submitting the FAFSA, students receive a report that shows how much the government expects you to pay for toward your child's education.

Myth #5: You can wait until you get accepted to a college before worrying about financial aid.

Most financial aid is doled out on a first-come, first-served basis. No one should wait to get started. Looking for financial aid probably isn't a teen's idea of a good time, but it is better than graduating from college in debt.

Rep. Gutwein Returns to Statehouse for Legislative Organization Day

Representatives Sworn into Office

(STATEHOUSE) Nov. 21, 2006

The Indiana General Assembly prepared for the upcoming legislative session with an annual meeting, Legislative Organization Day, at the Statehouse in Indianapolis. Rep. Eric A. Gutwein (R- Rensselaer) participated in the event, which included the swearing-in of the Speaker of the House, as well as all 100 members, and the naming of leadership positions.

"It is an honor to be able to continue serving the citizens in our area as a legislator," said Rep. Gutwein. "I will continue to do my best to represent our district accurately and fairly while working in a bipartisan manner with my colleagues across the aisle."

Traditionally, Organization Day is mostly ceremonial. Today, however, House Republicans went several steps further, calling for all Members to continue the progress established over the last two years. This past biennium, the House Republican Caucus created the first honestly balanced state budget in over a decade, along with hundreds of other measures, in order to establish an atmosphere of economic development and job creation across the state.

House Republicans continued the call for higher standards by discussing their priorities of the legislative session.

The upcoming 2007 legislative session will begin on January 8 and conclude on April 29. For questions or comments regarding this session, Rep. Gutwein can be reached at h16@IN.gov, or by calling at 1-800-382-9841.
